Rainbow of Hope

Narration 11

As the sun's rays shone through the drop, a beam of light cleared the sadness from the garden making a new path. It moved from the garden and then across the land. In the distance, he saw its radiance bring life to the lake and slowly clear the snow from the mountain. It lifted the mist from the valley and brought vision and freedom to the land. In his mind, he could see it travel to his homeland. A rainbow of hope arched over his city. A new light was dawning. His quest was over.
